In 1948, Local Union No. 3, I.B.E.W. asked Father Kelley, Chairman of the New York State Labor Relations Board - acting in his individual capacity - to guide the Election Board of Local Union No. 3, I.B.E.W. in the conduct of its election of officers. This request was made to rebut the unjust and unfair criticism of tampering during union elections. Father Kelley refused reimbursement for his highly praised services but suggested that - because of his belief in the need for higher education in labor matters - a scholarship could be established in his name at the Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations.

A proposal, based on Father Kelley's wishes, was made to Cornell. The Father William J. Kelley, O.M.I. Scholarship Program became the first scholarship awarded by Local Union No. 3. The criteria for this scholarship stated that the recipient be a child of a member of Local Union No. 3; he or she meet the full requirements of Cornell University and the School of Industrial and Labor Relations; and the recipient must remain at the school for the full term. However, no restrictions were placed on academic concentration within the school and no discrimination as to race, creed or national origin would be allowed.

This scholarship, and the program it generated, was unique for its time within the union movement and within the United States. The first year, two other scholarships were established: one honoring A. Lincoln Bush, a noted electrical contractor and first Chairman of the Joint Industry Board of the Electrical Industry; and a second named for William A. Hogan, Financial Secretary, Local Union No.3. Each succeeding year, additional scholarships were added - most honoring great men within the electrical industry. A special minority scholarship was introduced in 1969, honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and a fellowship was dedicated to the memory of Dean Harry Carman of Columbia University - the educator who played a major role in further developing the process of education for the Local Union No. 3, I.B.E.W. members.

Their value has since increased to reflect increases in educational costs and may now be used to attain a degree in nearly any chosen field of study. Changes made in the scholarship program represent the successful labor relations between labor and management as well as the enhancement of the Educational and Cultural Trust Fund's programs.

THE AWARDS

The Trustees of the Educational and Cultural Trust Fund of the Electrical Industry are pleased to announce the opening of the competition for the year 2024 Scholarship Awards. The Scholarships will entitle recipients to four years of undergraduate study at an accredited four-year degree granting college or university located within the continental United States. Scholarship recipients must maintain the academic average required by the institution they attend in order to receive the full financial benefit of the award. Each scholarship is valued at a maximum of $7,500 annual payment for four years based on the yearly tuition expense of the university.
